For Your Information

Information concerning the member institutions of the Arkansas Women's Intercollegiate Sports Association, including athletic information, press passes for athletic events and photographs, may be obtained by writing or calling Sports Information Directors or Women's Athletic Directors at any school.

Pre-game information and game statistics will generally be among the services provided by the school for members of the working press. Requests for press box facilities and passes should be directed in advance to the AWISA school desired, for all athletic contests.

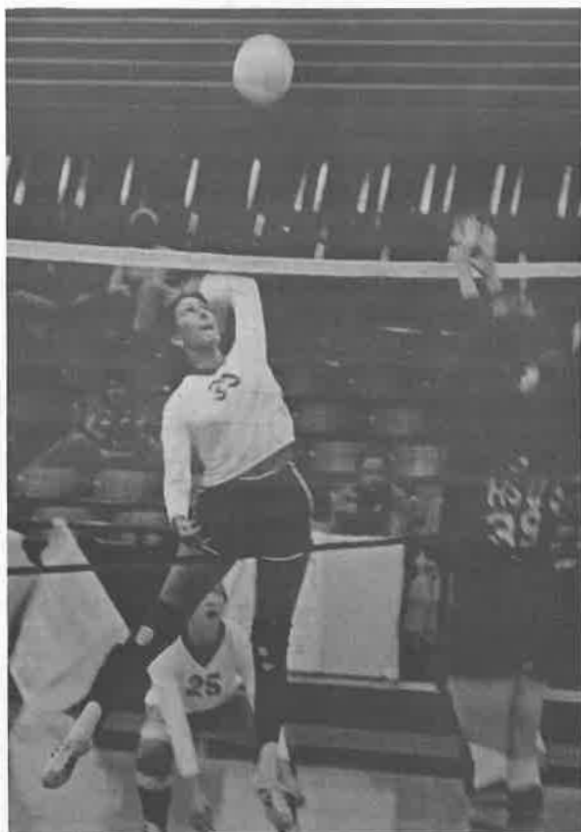

Additionally, a state-wide AWISA press outlet has been established for the 1977-78 sporting year, headquartered in Little Rock and staffed by SID's throughout the state. Weekly releases, statistics and conference information, as well as post-season teams and information concerning AWISA's participation in national and regional tournaments, will be made available as part of this new service.

Coordination of all AWISA press material will be handled from the Sports Information Office at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock, and requests for AWISA information can be made by writing AWISA, in care of UALR, or by calling (501) 569-3219.

Outlining the AIAW

The Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) was organized in 1971-72, and replaced the Commission on Intercollegiate Athletics for Women that originated in 1967. The AIAW provides leadership, regulations and a governing body for conducting national championships in 12 different sports for women at junior/community colleges, small colleges and senior colleges and universities around the country.

The AIAW has a membership of more than 700 universities, colleges and junior colleges, with memberships in all 50 states. The nation is divided into nine regions, each of which holds its own preliminary tournaments to the national finals in each AIAW sport. Arkansas is a member of Region Four, designated as the Southwest Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (SWAIAW) and encompassing colleges and universities in the states of Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana.

Swimming is oldest AWISA sport

Outlining the AWISA

Operating within the Arkansas Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, the Arkansas Women's Intercollegiate Sports Association is a section of that organization's Division for Girls' and Women's Sports.

Among its purposes are to encourage, promote and expand programs for women in the colleges and universities of Arkansas, in the belief that participation in such activities contributes to total fitness, to enjoyable use of leisure time and to the development of the most desirable and attractive physical, mental and social qualities.

The AWISA program grew from the Arkansas Women's Extramural Sports Association, which was formed during 1965-66 as an outgrowth of a state-wide collegiate planning meeting of women physical educators.

Sports included during that first academic year (1966-67) were swimming in the fall and tennis, bowling and archery in the spring. As interest in other sports developed, they were added. Volleyball became a part of the AWISA program in the fall of 1967, basketball in the winter of 1969-70 and golf in the spring of 1970.

Current member institutions of the Arkansas Women's Intercollegiate Sports Association and their locations are: Arkansas College (Batesville), Arkansas State University (Jonesboro), Arkansas Tech University (Russellville), Henderson State University (Arkadelphia), Hendrix College (Conway), Ouachita Baptist University (Arkadelphia), Southern Arkansas University (Magnolia), the University of Arkansas at Little Rock, the University of Arkansas at Monticello, the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff, and the University of Central Arkansas (Conway).
